I, the undersigned,

ZONDANI MAGWEBU

do hereby make oath and say:

1. I am an adult male and permanently residing at No. 56202 Kuyasa, Harare, Khayelitsha.

2. The facts herein contained are within my personal knowledge and belief, unless the contrary appears from the text, and are true and correct.

3. My wife Noluthando Magwebu was diagnosed with HIV in 2002, she became open about her status.

Between April and May I came home and overheard Noluthando having a conversation with another woman and our neighbour, a man waited in a car outside for them, at the time my wife had stomach pains and nothing more serious than that.

They wanted to take my wife to a clinic run by Mathias Rath, they convinced her to go, but I did not go and told them I would go some other time.

She came back with three more bottles of Vita Cell and some other medicines; I told her she must stop taking the tablets because they are making her sick I also asked her to take the pills to the MSF clinic.

At MSF clinic they told her to stop taking the tablets, I told her when people for the Rath clinic came she must return the tablets to them.

They came back and took the medication when I was not home, her condition did not improve the doctors could not work out what was wrong with her.

She died at Karl Brammer Hospital on 2 June 2005 about a month later after taking Rath tablets.
